Please join me for a Policy Hearing with Front-Line Essential Workers in honor of Workers Memorial Day tomorrow, April 28 from 10:00 am – 12:00 noon.

Workers Memorial Day is the annual day of remembrance for workers killed or injured on the job and a day for renewing the fight for strong safety and health protections for all workers. Protecting our workers should always be a top priority, especially right now. Business cannot function without a healthy workforce.

This hearing will feature testimony from first responders and medical professionals, including an EMS worker, fire fighters, a registered nurse, and a home healthcare worker. We will also hear testimony from non-medical essential workers, including letter carriers, the building trades, transit workers, and grocery store workers.

I invite you to join me in this hearing as we learn how to best protect our front-line essential workers. The hearing will be streaming live on my website at SenatorLindseyWilliams.com/live and on my Facebook page, Facebook.com/SenWilliamsPA.
